CS 331: Computer Security and Information Assurance
In-Class Game - Charade

1 Introduction

This in-class contest is mainly used to engage students in class, and help students to digest/memorize what they have learned in this class. Students will be divided into small groups (2 students in each group). Students who lose in this game will not lose any real points, but there will be one winning group, each student in that group will receive 5 extra credits.

2 Rules

- The instructor will give you a list of terms, he will then randomly select terms from the list. You will have 3 minutes to act out the terms. Your partner will guess the terms. Every correct guess earns your group 1 point.
- You can pass/skip a term if you are not able to do it.
- You can (but are not required to) use the computer and the screen, but you can’t show the term or part of it explicitly on the screen, and you can’t use search engines. If you use browsers, you can only access three websites: cnn.com, boisestate.edu, and arianagrande.com (this website might be useful if you want to describe something that is related to login, posting comments, editing shopping cart). You can use the mouse, but can not use the keyboard or try to type in anything.
- You can use various gestures, but you can’t speak.

3 References

Here is the example:
Charades with Scarlett Johansson and Drake (Late Night with Jimmy Fallon)
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xPR-Ej-ENbk&t=90s